INTRODUCTION

This profile of the German cultural community is just one of the many projects undertaken by the Queensland Partners in Culturally Appropriate Care (PICAC).

The Queensland PICAC Project aims to facilitate the development of partnerships between ethnic community groups and residential aged care service providers to implement “best practice” strategies of care for older people from diverse backgrounds. The project is about ensuring the needs of older people from a German cultural background are met.

Funded by the Commonwealth Department of Health & Ageing, the project in Queensland is managed by Diversicare under the auspice of the Ethnic Communities Council of Qld.

Population trends within Australia are increasingly characterised by a diversity of people, languages and culture. Coupled with this trend is an ageing population, also with a rich diversity of languages and cultures.

It’s not surprising then, that residential aged care service providers are faced with increasing demands for culturally responsive facilities and care.

This profile aims to assist by enhancing:
• staff knowledge of the cultural and linguistically diverse needs of persons from a German background. It also seeks to facilitate the professional competence and development of staff in the provision of culturally inclusive care; and

• the organisation’s compliance with the Residential Care Standards and National Aged Care Standards as they pertain to the issue of cultural and linguistic needs. The profile provides useful information about a range of topics, resources including books, articles, audio-video aids, services, and so on.

This symbol is used to indicate a ‘tip’, which YOU, as the caregiver of a person who was born in Germany, may find useful in your day-to-day support of that person.

This guide is not intended to replace one stereotype of this culture with another; instead it is intended to provide some insights into the culture. Nor does it diminish the importance of you establishing the individual cultural needs of each person as part of the care planning process.

In an effort to maintain the accuracy of this profile and improve its contents, for all stakeholders, we encourage readers to complete the feedback form on the last page to inform us of any inaccuracies or other resources available. It is considered that this feedback will assist us maintain a user relevant and quality resource.

Yours Sincerely

Margaret Hess          Elizabeth Zajac
Director               PICAC Project Officer
The Federal Republic of Germany, or 'Deutschland', covers 356,866 sq kilometres (see map), is divided into sixteen states (or 'Laender') and covers a vast amount of the European continent. Germany also has four distinct topographic regions – the Northern Uplands, Central Lowlands, Alpine Forelands and the Alps.

Migration experience

For much of the period of European settlement in Australia, the Germany-born community has been the largest group whose first language is not English. While German migration began in the 19th century and is ongoing to this time, the post World War II years from 1952 to 1961 were the height of Germany-born migration, and often occurred for economic reasons.

During these years Australia provided assisted passage for 3,000 Germans per annum. At the end of the 20th century, the Germany-born in Australia was in slow decline after peaking in 1986.

Australian statistics

As at the 2001 Census, 108,240 persons from a German background have settled in all Australian States, with Queensland being the third largest State behind NSW and Victoria. Of the total Germany-born population in Australia (2001 Census):

- 27% are aged over 65 years;
- 61% have either a trade or tertiary qualification (which is higher than for the Australia-born population at 46%);
- 60.1% were employed in a skilled occupation, 26.1% in semi-skilled and 13.8% in unskilled jobs; and
- males comprised 51.6% and females 48.4%; and
- their ancestry includes German (72.5%), Polish (6%), Ukrainian (1.9%) plus others (eg Turkish, Greek, Swiss, Austrian)

Queensland has 17.7% (or 19,140 persons) of this total population and they have settled across Queensland. Within Queensland, individuals born in Germany and aged 60+ years represent some 7,358 individuals and are the second highest ethnic group in Queensland.

Due to the length of time in Australia, Germany-born persons have a well-established network of services and activities (eg German Club) in most States of Australia and key regional centres in each State.

The above data means the person you are caring for is most likely to have been well educated, have worked in a skilled job outside the home and been part of established social and recreational links to other Germany-born persons.

Customs in everyday life

Formal manners are important.

Greetings. A handshake is the most common form of greeting upon meeting or leaving and applies at almost every time they meet. In mixed company a woman’s hand is shaken before a man’s.

Referring to others. Except with close friends, most Germans prefer the use of titles (eg Mrs or ‘Frau’ in German) and surnames OR professional titles (eg ‘Doktor’ or ‘Professor’) until such times as you are given permission to use the more familiar ‘you’, Christian name, nickname or pet name or diminutive name. The use of the person’s name is particularly important where the person has dementia and may have reverted to their culture of origin naming protocols.

Gestures. It is considered an insult to point your index finger to ones forehead. Instead of crossing ones fingers for luck, Germans, depending on the region where they live, either a) place the thumb inside of a closed fist or b) place the thumb on top of the index finger. Either formation is then thrust forward, in a motion not dissimilar to the action used when signalling.

Entering a room. It is courteous to stand when a woman or the host enters a room. It is also considered good etiquette for males to open doors for females.

Attire. Sloppy or overly casual clothing is inappropriate in public.

Taboos. If discussing the holocaust and World War II this needs to be talked about with tact, as the presumption by others that Fascist ideas are somehow part of their national culture is offensive.

The above customs are from a time in which the older generation lived and were raised. They may not be evident in the younger generations, nor do they necessarily apply to every Germany-born aged person. It is important YOU check on whether adherence to these, or other customs unique to their region of origin, is to be used with that Germany-born person.

Cultural stereotypes

Germans have the reputation for being industrious, thrifty and orderly who tend to talk in a manner that is seen as ‘giving orders’. They can be viewed as overly disciplined, humourless and domineering with a penchant for continual improvement and modernisation.

The German heritage is associated with high culture in terms of theatre, drama, literature, art, concerts and opera. Whilst identifying as German, each person also has a strong sense of regional cultural identity. There are diverse cultural and social differences between the 16 States of Germany. The region in which the person lived will impact on the person’s preferences related to such things as festivals, newspaper, food, drink, clothing, cultural personality, music and language dialect etc.

It should be remembered this is just one view and does not apply to every Germany-born person. This reality means YOU should establish each Germany-born person’s preferences.

Having established this person’s preferences be careful not to replace one cultural stereotype with another related to what should be considered stereo-typically ‘German’. (Source: Lonely Planet Guide)

FAMILY

Family structure
Both parents often work. Large families are not common, even in rural areas with the average family having 1 or 2 children. It is not uncommon for people to have lived together before marriage, with the marriage being a legal one as opposed to a religious ceremony, which is considered optional.

Elderly persons are encouraged to stay in their own homes for as long as possible. Often family members offer support or adopt the role of carers with the assistance of in-home care programs if needed.

Tradition is dear to the German heart. Order, duty, responsibility and achievement are traditional family values, which can result in tight family units that cling together. In comparison to other communities, Germans tend to have a strong individualistic outlook on life.

Attitudes to residential care
Residential care is seen by elderly Germans as the last option and other in-home support programs will be accessed to prolong independence for as long as possible. For many older Germans leaving home and moving into communal living arrangements is equivalent to losing their independence.

Where residential placement happens this is often due to the loss of family members or family networks, rather than as a preference of the person.

(source: www.dw-world.de/select_html/0,,,00.html)

If you need help to provide culturally appropriate care, the assistance of the PICAC Project Officer is available free of charge to your agency or the resident. This service is restricted to the greater metropolitan Brisbane and Townsville. For more information on PICAC contact Diversicare on (07) 3846 1099.
PERSONAL HYGIENE

The routines and preferences surrounding the following personal hygiene activities greatly impact on the person’s sense of self, pride, dignity and confidence.

Bathing
Whilst there are no specific cultural norms in bathing, most Germany-born persons want a shower daily.

Dress
There are cultural norms surrounding standard of dress whereby sloppy or overly casual dress in public may be seen as inappropriate. Clothing also needs to be in good repair and ironed.

What is considered ‘appropriate’ standard of dress is individual and will be influenced by the region in which they lived.

Grooming
Men and women look after themselves and are concerned about how they look. Women will prefer to wear makeup, jewellery, nail polish, perfume and have neat hair, that is be well groomed. Men tend to use cologne/aftershave, clipping nasal and ear hair and trimming nails etc.

It is important each person’s preferences in their dress, bathing, grooming etc are established as part of their care plan.

PENSIONS

People who lived and paid taxes in other countries are often eligible for a partial pension payment from that country. Australia has reciprocal arrangements in place with Germany regarding the payment of pensions. The Australian Government supplements that payment if it falls below the level of the Australian pension.

Problems with Centrelink can arise for the person if he/she fails to notify Centrelink of any increase in the foreign pension amount. In this situation the Australian supplement is reduced according to the increase amount. Failure to notify Centrelink can result in a debt and fine being imposed by Centrelink.

Where a Germany-born person is accessing a pension from Germany, the German Consulate every year, sends out a document (called the ‘Lebensbescheinigungen’) that is proof of being alive. Completion of this form is necessary to ensure continued access to the German Pension fund. Therefore it is important that the consulate be informed of any change in residential address.

LEISURE AND RECREATION

The Germans are active people who also like to travel. They like being in the outdoors eg. walking, hiking or simply sitting outside.

German people are especially interested in sports, especially soccer, tennis or the German equivalent to ten-pin bowling (‘kegeln’). They tend to belong to a diverse range of clubs eg chess, board games, and card games like ‘skat’, which requires a minimum of 3 people (see Appendix A for rules of the game). Craft work (eg. knitting, embroidery, cross-stitch or tapestry) is also popular with German women.

They are social people, enjoying drinks with colleagues and friends or sing-a-longs (as opposed to more formal arrangements like choirs) with folk songs being preferred.

Many Germans, even those who have lived in cities, have an allotment of land and enjoy growing vegetables and flowers in their leisure time. Even a box or some boxes in which to grow vegetables can be very fulfilling to an elderly Germany-born person. This cultural inclination for home-grown food can often be manifested in a preference for organic food.

It is also a common to have pot plant and potted flowers inside the house (eg. geraniums, marigolds, African violets).
Elderly women often like to make preserves, jams, compotes and cakes or pastries. These delicacies can feature heavily in a coffee and cake/pastries rituals called ‘kaffeeklatsch’ whereby 2 or more people gather after 3pm, and over coffee and cakes, discuss current events.

The above information can assist in developing diversional therapy activities eg tending potted flowers that are kept in the person’s room and/or a small box of vegetables kept in a communal area and/or cooking cakes or pastries, craft work and/or card, chess or board games. However, YOU need to check with each individual his or her preferences in regard to the above.

Daily Routine
Germany-born persons like a routine (eg when he/she rises or retires, bathes, when to have meals etc, observance of the kaffeeklatsch as afternoon tea etc). They generally have a structured pattern to the day and like sticking to these times.

You need to establish with each individual his/her preferences related to his/her daily routine and timings.

Social groups
A diverse range of German social groups meet. The German clubs in various parts of Queensland exist to provide community functions, arts in particular music, information and education and can often tell you of the various social groups that exist. Contact details are:

Newspapers

As mentioned earlier, the region in which the person lived in Germany can affect his/her preferred newspaper. There are 4 ways to access some German-language newspapers:

1) A German language newspaper is available in Brisbane from the following newsagencies:
   • Supa News, Level A, 91 Queen St 4000, Brisbane City Centre, Phone: (07) 3221 0211
   • GPO News, GPO Lane, Brisbane City Centre Phone: (07) 3229 2888
   • Village news, Toowong Village Centre Phone: (07) 38701644

2) Go to the following web address http://www.pressdisplay.com/pressdisplay/viewer.aspx and access a copy of the following newspapers:
   • Hamburger Morgenpost
   • Handelsblatt
   • Kicker
   • Rheinische Post
   • Sueddeutsche Zeitung StadtAusgabe

3) The following web address gives you access to ALL newspapers produced nationally or in the towns listed eg. choosing Hamburg leads to a listing of 5 newspapers from which to choose to download:

4) You can search on the web using the name of the publication. For example, the following are available free from the indicated websites:
   • Tuttlinger Woche - www.diewoche.org/
   • Die Woche der Entscheidung - www.google.com.au/search?hl=en&q=die+woche+&meta=

If the person cannot use a computer, do not forget you can access the internet and load these newspapers and print all or some pages which can then be given to the person to read at their leisure.

Books

Germany-born persons like reading and Brisbane City Council libraries (the Indooroopilly and Ashgrove libraries especially) have a variety of books in German. Regardless of your location in Queensland it is possible to arrange to have these books sent to your local library for a small fee.

You can search the Brisbane City Council library catalogue via its language collection by going to the following website and choosing the preferred language which will then take you to a screen where you choose your category of interest (eg movies, books, music, DVDs):
Every council library in Queensland borrows from the Qld State Library. The State Library itself has 100,000 german-language resources (books, videos, CDs) which your local library can arrange to borrow for a small fee. You can do a search of the State Library resources (which will list the resource, type of resource and call number) by going to the following web address:

Talking books in spoken German can be difficult to obtain from libraries. There are some in the German Club in Brisbane but borrowing rights is limited to members and the person would need to come to the club for pick-up and drop off of the tapes.

ONLY for those persons who are visually impaired and a member of the Qld Blind Foundation, it is possible to borrow from its talking book library which has 200 German-language taped books. You will need to complete an application form, and if approved, borrowing rights then apply. Contact 1300 654 656 to obtain a referral form.

Music

Music is very important to Germany-born persons regardless of gender. It is a strong cultural expression of who that person is and the region he/she lived in.

The key thing to remember with music is a likely personal preference for music of the era in which they were teenagers or in their twenties.

The larger specialty music stores can order German music or you can purchase from the larger music stores on their websites eg. Sanity’s web address allows you to search for German-language music and CDs. Their web address is: http://www.sanity.com.au

You can search the Brisbane City Council library catalogue via its language collection by going to the following website and choosing the preferred language which will then take you to a screen where you choose your category of interest (eg movies, books, music, DVDs): www.brisbane.qld.gov.au/uhtbin/cgiisirsj7U22A3ll2U/44230061/1/1246/X

Please note, a fee may apply for organising inter-library loans.

Again establish each individual’s preferences and check whether family members can assist in finding German language books, videos, DVD, music etc.

RELIGION

Profile
Most Germans belong to a church, even if they may in practice not be regular attendees.

Of the total Germany-born population in Australia the major religions are:
- Roman Catholic (29%);
- Lutheran (28.4%);
- Protestant (4.7%); and
- 15.8% stated 'No Religion'.

There are also small numbers of people who follow the Jewish and Islamic faiths. (source: German Community Information Summary, DIMIA, 2003)

Remember there can be a difference between nominating a particular religion and practising that religion in one’s everyday life (or whether all or only some rituals/practices within that religion are observed).

Equally, just because a person, when younger did not practise or observe their religion does not mean that as the person ages, he/she might now wish to practise.

YOU need to establish each person’s religious preferences and link him/her into a local minister of that religion.

FOOD AND DIET

The typical German dietary staples are bread, potatoes, meat, sausages, vegetables, fruit, and milk products.

Meals

Breakfast. Usually includes bread rolls, butter, jam, cheese, several sliced meats, a hard-boiled egg.

Lunch is the main meal of the day and can consist of hot, cooked meat with vegetables including potato and bread.

There is a common coffee and cake/pastries ritual called ‘kaffeeklatsch’ whereby 2 or more people gather after 3pm, and over coffee and cakes, discuss current events.

On Fridays meat isn’t eaten instead it is replaced with fish.

Food sources

More and more of the larger food stores eg Woolworths, Coles are stocking German foods, and you should check what is available at these types of stores in the first instance.

Below are a list of known suppliers of German foods in South-East Qld. For those persons outside of Brisbane, you could phone and see if they can organize a delivery to your local area. There would obviously be additional costs.

HEALTH

Trauma situations
World War II is a subject that needs to be handled with tact. It should not be forgotten that Germany-born aged persons have lived through a very traumatic time arising from not just the war experience but also the years post-war when times were very tough. It is likely that many families were split up and relocated to areas thought safer than large towns.

Attitudes to illness and pain
German persons are often stoic about pain and loathe seeing a doctor too quickly. He/she will try to cope with pain for as long as possible mostly by trying to ignore it. The person generally won’t talk about it unless a close friend or family member mentions any changes they have noticed.

Perception of health professionals
Going to health professionals is usual and Germany-born persons are used to the medical hierarchy (ie. General practitioners for overall health with referral to Specialists as needed for more in-depth treatment). These persons are viewed as professionals and will be treated respectfully by the patient.

The concept of self-help (eg exercises, rehabilitation programs) is also strong in the Germany-born psyche.

It should be noted that whilst respectful of their professional status, the person will question the doctor freely eg asking about drug side effects, the implications of the illness on their particular lifestyle etc.

Complementary medicine is also seen to have an integral role in the health of Germany-born persons, often alongside western medicine. It is not uncommon for the person to seek medical advice and medication and then seek help from health practitioners eg. herbalist, naturopaths, homeopath or acupuncture and undertake a remedial exercise program.

This may mean YOU shouldn’t perceive a German person who questions a doctor or health professional as being difficult. Nor should you consider the person as ‘being difficult’ should he/she wants a second opinion or to access complementary medicines or some type.
DEATH AND DYING

Palliative Care

Palliative care was not provided in Germany until after 1985. It is likely that Germany-born elderly persons will be unaware that such services exist or what it entails. If the person does know something about palliative care he/she has learnt this whilst resident in Australia.

Death

The deceased is bathed and dressed in the clothes he/she has usually chosen before death and these instructions given to a family member.

According to individual religious beliefs the burial rites might differ slightly. In general relatives wear black clothing at the day of the burial. The spouse may choose to wear black for up to 1 year (the year of mourning).

Cremation or burial will be a personal choice based more on religious beliefs than cultural norms.

It is important to establish each person’s wishes in the event of palliative care or death and recorded as part of their care plan.

LANGUAGE

Whilst there are various regional dialects and accents, ‘Hochdeutsch’ German is the official language of German, and is spoken throughout Germany, Austria and in much Switzerland. (source: Lonely Planet Guide)

However the language used at school and in the media is official German and not the German spoken at home.

Of the total Germany-born population in Australia, German was the main language spoken at home for 49,390 persons (or 37.9%). Of this same population 95.6% also spoke English very well or well.

(source: German Community Information Summary, DIMIA, 2003)

This means German is used within the home and family unit, but English is spoken outside or in public. You will also find that many elderly Germany-born persons will have developed a mix of both languages, using both often in the same sentence. For example, a German person talking in English may respond to a question using “Ja” which is German for ‘yes’.

YOU need to be aware that just because they once could speak English, does not mean a) they necessarily spoke it fluently or extensively OR b) they have retained these skills as he/she aged OR c) that it is their preferred language. Speaking English can be tiring to the elderly – as they are engaging in a translation-type of process.

PHRASE CARDS

Following is a sample of phrase cards, originally produced by the Multicultural Access Unit, Health Department of Western Australian (reproduced with the permission of the Department of Health Library, Perth, Western Australia).

The cards are arranged under five headings, in the following order:
- Greetings
- Food
- Personal Care
- Pain
- Requests

These cards are available from Diversicare’s PICAC Project Officer by contacting on (07) 3846 1099
GERMAN
NURSING HOME PHRASE CARDS

These cards are designed to assist communication between carers and residents for everyday situations when there is no interpreter present. Do not hesitate to use them—they have been made for staff who do not speak German. Remember that your efforts to speak a resident's language will usually be seen as a mark of respect and recognition of their individuality. This is an excellent way of building rapport.

The cards are arranged under five headings, in the following order:
Greetings
Food
Personal Care
Pain
Requests

For situations where an interpreter is needed (see page 22 of Nursing Home and Hostel Care: A Multicultural Resource Kit for guidelines), telephone the Translating and Interpreting Service (TIS) on 131 450 (24 hours).

Turn over for guidelines on using these phrase cards.

HOW TO USE THESE PHRASE CARDS

There are two ways to use these cards.

1. If the resident can read, you can point to the appropriate phrase in German on the card.

2. Otherwise, you should read the phrase aloud. Follow the phonetic pronunciation on the bottom line. Remember to speak clearly - don’t hurry - and don’t worry if you have to repeat a phrase.

Note that in the phonetic version, a word may be divided with hyphens to clearly indicate separate syllable (stressed syllables are underlined).

About Skat

Skat is the national card game of Germany, and one of the best card games for 3 players. Skat is a three-handed trick taking game. It is also quite often played by four people, but there are still only 3 active players in each hand; the dealer sits out. Each active player is dealt 10 cards and the remaining two form the skat. Each hand begins with an auction. The winner of the bidding becomes the declarer, and plays alone against the other two players in partnership. The declarer has the right to use the two skat cards to make a better hand, and to choose the trump suit.

Some cards have point values, and the total number of card points in the pack is 120. To win, the declarer has to take at least 61 card points in tricks plus skat; the opponents win if their combined tricks contain at least 60 card points. Instead of naming a trump suit the declarer can choose to play Grand (jacks are the only trumps) or Null (no trumps and the declarer’s object is to lose all the tricks).

The value of the game, in game points, depends on the trumps chosen, the location of the top trumps (matadors) and whether the declarer used the skat. Declarer generally wins the value of the game if successful, and loses the game value (doubled if the skat was exchanged) if unsuccessful. It is important to realise that in Skat the card points, which generally determine whether the declarer wins or loses, are quite separate from the game points, which determine how much is won or lost.

The Cards

32 cards are used: A K Q J 10 9 8 7 in each suit.

German Suits

Clubs acorns (Eichel)
Spades leaves (Grün)
Hearts hearts (Rot)
Diamonds bells (Schellen)
King king (König)
Queen ober (Ober)
Jack unter (Unter)

Ranking of Cards

The ranking of the cards depends on the game the declarer chooses to play.

Suit games

Irrespective of the suit chosen as trumps, the four jacks are the top four trumps, ranking in the fixed order: ♣ ♤ ♦ ♦

Then follow the remaining seven cards of the chosen suit, making eleven trumps in all, ranking from highest to lowest: Club J, Spade J, Heart J, Diamond J; A - 10 - K - Q - 9 - 8 - 7.

The other three suits each contain just seven cards ranking from high to low: A - 10 - K - Q - 9 - 8 - 7.

Grand

The four jacks are the only trumps. They form a suit by themselves ranking from high to low: Club J, Spade J, Heart J, Diamond J
The remaining four suits each contain seven cards ranking from high to low: A - 10 - K - Q - 9 - 8 - 7.

Null
There are no trumps. The eight cards of each suit rank from high to low: A - K - Q - J - 10 - 9 - 8 - 7.

Point values of the cards
In suit games and Grand, the cards have the following values:

Card: J A 10 K Q 9 8 7
Value: 2 11 10 4 3 0 0 0

The total value in the pack is 120 card points.

The Deal
The first dealer is chosen at random; thereafter the turn to deal rotates clockwise. The dealer shuffles and the player to dealer’s right cuts. The dealer deals a batch of three cards to each player, then two cards face down in the centre of the table to form the skat, then a batch of four cards to each player, and finally another batch of three cards each. If there are four players at the table, the dealer deals to the other three players only, and takes no further part in the hand.

The Auction
Each bid is a number which is the value in game points. The possible bids are therefore 18, 20, 22, 23, 24, 27, 30, 33, 35, 36, 40, 44, 45, 46, 48, 50, 54, 55, 59, 60, etc. If you bid or accept a bid it means you are prepared to play a contract of at least that value in game points.

The player to the dealer’s left is called forehand (F), the player to forehand’s left is middlehand (M), and the player to middlehand’s left is rearhand (R). If there are three players at the table R is the dealer, if there are four R is to dealer’s right. Throughout the bidding F is senior to M who is senior to R. The principle is that a senior player only has to equal a junior player’s bid to win the auction, whereas a junior player has to bid higher than a senior player to win.

The first part of the auction takes place between F and M. M speaks first, either passing or bidding a number. There is no advantage in making a higher than necessary bid so M will normally either pass or begin with the lowest bid: 18. If M bids a number, F can either give up the chance to be declarer by saying “pass” or compete by saying “yes”, which means that F bids the same number that M just bid. If F says “yes”, M can say “pass”, or continue the auction with a higher bid, to which F will again answer “yes” or “pass”. This continues until either F or M drops out of the auction by passing - once having passed you get no further opportunity to bid on that hand.

The second part of the auction is similar to the first part, but takes place between R and the survivor of the first part (i.e. whichever of F and M did not pass. As the junior player, R either passes or bids a succession of numbers, the first of which must be higher than any number mentioned in the first part of the auction. To each number bid by R, the survivor must answer “yes” or “pass”. The winner of the second part of the auction becomes the declarer, and the bid is the last number the declarer said or accepted.
If both M and R pass without having bid, then F can either be declarer at the lowest bid (18), or can throw in the cards without playing. If the cards are thrown in there is no score for the hand, and the next dealer deals.

Examples:
1. F M R
   18
   yes yes pass (F wins first part) 22
   yes 23
   yes 24
   pass (R is declarer in 24)

2. F M R
   pass (F wins first part) 18
   yes pass (F is declarer in 18)

3. F M R
   18 pass (M wins first part)
   pass (R is declarer in 20)

To remember whose turn it is to start the bidding, German players sometimes say "geben, hören, sagen" (deal, listen, speak), pointing in turn to dealer, forehand and middlehand. If middlehand forgets to begin, forehand can start proceedings by saying "I'm forehand" or "I'm listening", or "Speak to me!".

The Possible Contracts
If you win the bidding you are entitled to pick up the two skat cards, add them to your hand without showing them to the other players, and discard any two cards face down. The cards discarded may include one or both of the cards picked up, and their value counts along with your tricks. Having discarded, you declare your game. If you looked at the skat, your contract is a skat game. There are seven possibilities:

Diamonds, Hearts, Spades, Clubs
(in which the named suit is trumps and the declarer tries to take at least 61 card points),
Grand (in which the jacks are the only trumps and the declarer tries to take at least 61 card points),
Null (in which there are no trumps and the declarer tries to lose every trick),
Null Ouvert (Open Null) (like Null but with declarer's cards are exposed).

You may choose not to look at the skat cards, but to play with the 10 cards you were originally dealt. If you don't look at the skat you are playing a hand game, and again there are seven possibilities: Diamonds Hand, Hearts Hand, Spades Hand, Clubs Hand, Grand Hand, Null Hand and Null Ouvert Hand. In this case no one must look at the skat cards until after the play.

If you are declarer in a Suit Hand or Grand Hand game, you can increase the value of the game by announcing Schneider (undertaking to win at least 90 card points), or Schwarz (undertaking to win all the tricks), or Open (Ouvert) (undertaking to win all the tricks with your cards exposed). Such announcements must be made before the lead to the first trick. These announcements are not allowed if declarer has looked at the skat. Also (obviously) they do not apply in Null games.
The Play
Play is clockwise. No matter who is the declarer, forehand always leads to the first trick. Players must follow suit if they can. A player with no card of the suit led may play any card. Note that in Suit and Grand games the jacks belong to the trump suit, not to the suits marked on them. For example if hearts are trumps, the jack of clubs is the highest heart, and has nothing whatever to do with the club suit.

A trick is won by the highest card of the suit led, unless it contains a trump, in which case the highest trump wins it. The winner of a trick leads to the next.

If you are declarer in a Suit or Grand game you win if the cards in your tricks plus the skat contain at least 61 card points. The opponents win if their combined tricks contain at least 60 card points.

If the declarer’s opponents take 30 points or fewer in tricks, they are Schneider. If they take 31 or more they are said to be out of Scheider. If they take no tricks at all, they are Schwarz. The same applies to the declarer - as declarer, you are Schneider if you win 30 card points or less including the skat, and Schwarz if you lose every trick. Note that Schwarz depends on tricks not points - if a side wins just one trick and it has no card points in it, that is sufficient to get them out of Schwarz.

If you are declarer in Null or Null Ouvert, you win the game if you manage to lose every trick. If you take a trick, you have lost and the play of the hand ceases at that point.

If you are declarer in an Open (Ouvert) contract - i.e. you are playing Null Ouvert or have announced Open in a Suit or Grand contract - you have to spread out your hand face up on the table before the lead to the first trick. Play then proceeds normally, and you play from your exposed hand. The opponents are not allowed to discuss tactics.

Calculating the Value of the Game
Suit and Grand contracts
The value of a Suit or Grand contract is obtained by multiplying together two numbers: the base value and the multiplier. The base value depends on the trump suit as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contract</th>
<th>Base value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Diamonds</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hearts</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spades</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clubs</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grand</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you are declarer in Null or Null Ouvert, you win the game if you manage to lose every trick. If you take a trick, you have lost and the play of the hand ceases at that point.
The multiplier is the sum of all applicable items from the following table:

Note that all applicable multipliers count - for example:

- if you make the opponents Schwarz, you count the matadors, game, Schneider and Schwarz multipliers;
- if you announce and make Schneider you count matadors, game, Hand, Schneider and Schneider announced;
- if you announce and make Schwarz you count matadors, game, Hand, Schneider, Schneider announced, Schwarz, Schwarz announced.

Open contracts are extremely rare: you can only play open if you did not look at the skat and you also undertake to win every trick. By implication, an open contract includes announcements of Schneider and Schwarz, so you count: matadors, game, Hand, Schneider, Schneider announced, Schwarz, Schwarz announced, and Open.

<table>
<thead>

<th>Hand game</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

<td>1 each</td>
</tr>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>

<td>1</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schwarz announced</td>
<td>n/a</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Open</td>
<td>n/a</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(n/a = not applicable)
Matadors
The jack of clubs and any top trumps in unbroken sequence with it are called matadors. If as declarer you have such a sequence in your original hand plus the skat, you are with that number of matadors. If there is such a sequence in the opponents' combined hands, declarer is against that number of matadors.

Examples of matadors (Hearts and Trumps)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Declarer has:</th>
<th>Declarer is:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>♠ J, ♥ J, ♦ J, ♣ A, ♠ 10, ♦ Q, ♠ 9</td>
<td>with 1 ♠ J, ♦ J, ♥ J, ♣ J, ♠ A, ♠ 10, ♥ K</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note that for the purposes of matadors, cards in the skat count as part of declarer's hand, even though in a Hand game declarer does not know what is in the skat when choosing the game.

The game multiplier is always counted, whether declarer wins or loses.

The calculation of the value of a game sounds something like this: “with 2, game 3, Schneider 4, 4 times spades is 44”.

The declarer must always be with or against at least one matador (the jack of clubs must be somewhere), so the smallest possible multiplier is 2, and the smallest possible game value (and the lowest possible bid) is 18.
Null contracts
These are easy to score. Each possible Null contract has a fixed value unaffected by multipliers. As with all contracts, an unsuccessful declarer loses twice the value of the game. The Null values are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contract</th>
<th>Fixed Value</th>
<th>Amount lost if unsuccessful</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Null</td>
<td>23</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Null Hand</td>
<td>35</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Null Ouvert</td>
<td>46</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Null Ouvert Hand</td>
<td>59</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

These rather eccentric looking numbers are chosen to fit between the other contract values, each being slightly below a multiple of 12.

The Scoring
If declarer wins the game and the value of the game is as least as much as the bid, then the value of the game is added to the declarer's cumulative score. If the declarer loses the game and the value of the game is as least as much as the bid, then twice the value of the game is subtracted from the declarer's score. If the value of the declarer's game turns out to be less than the bid then the declarer automatically loses - it does not matter how many card points were taken. The amount subtracted from the declarer's score is twice the least multiple of the base value of the game actually played which would have fulfilled the bid.

If as declarer you announce Schneider but take less than 90 card points, or if you announce Schwarz or Open and lose a trick, you lose, counting all the multipliers you would have won if you had succeeded.
